If a grown up is busy, gently tap them on the shoulder, look at them, and call his name. If the grown up can’t talk yet, gently keep your hand on their shoulder until they can help you. This will help them know that you have something important to say.